

"Connected Teaching: Collaborating and Sharing with Students and Each Other"

Center for Teaching
Innovation

Meier Hall 115
X6137

SIGN-UP for workshops ONLINE or call 6137.

[http://tinyurl.com/
ctifa08](http://tinyurl.com/ctifa08)

Teaching Tools Workshops

Topic	Time/Place	Description	Share (Self-Publish)	Connect	Collaborate	Synthesize	Have Fun
Captivate your students!	9/22/2008 3:30-4:30 Meier Hall 100C	Still don't know what Captivate is or what it can do for you? Come see why so many of your colleagues are using Captivate to upload lectures, create interactive tutorials, and make stimulating simulations. Marc Boots-Ebenfield	✓			✓	✓
Talk with Students Online	10/1/2008 3:15-4:30 Meier Hall 101B	Skype let's you call your students using your computer to talk for free! You can even conduct conference calls with your whole (small) class! The pay version allows users to call cell and land based phones from their computer and send text messages to groups. Derek Barr	✓	✓	✓		✓
Connecting with Students	10/3/2008 2:30-3:30 Harrington 116	Web 2.0 is all about connecting. Come learn about how your students and even some colleagues are using tools like Delicious, Twitter, Frapper & dodgeball to stay connected and learn. We will discuss ways these tools can be utilized for teaching and scholarship. Marc Boots-Ebenfield	✓	✓	✓		✓
High Tech Feedback	10/7/2008 3:30-4:30 Harrington 116	Sick of silently commenting on student work using text & MS Word revisions? Research shows that audio makes a huge difference in student affect. Jazz up you announcements and commentary using Voki and Azoocacapture. Students can even respond. Derek Barr		✓			✓
Collaborate through Photos	10/7/2008 11:00-12:15 Library Instruction Classroom, 1st FL	Sharing photos is much more than uploading to the web. Flickr and other photo web sites give you the tools to discuss, create slide shows, connect & juxtapose images and engage visual learners. We will show you how to find, edit and share images using Flickr, piknik and creative commons. Cathy Fahey	✓	✓	✓		✓
Using Blackboard for Supervising Internships: An Example and An Invitation	10/14/2008 10:00-11:00 Central Campus 131	See how online tools can enhance the internship experience through better connections with site supervisors and students. After seeing inside Prof. Cook's summer internship course, you'll be invited to share your own ideas for using technology to improve the internship experience. Judi Cook		✓	✓		✓
Secure, Connected Blogging	10/15/2008 3:30-4:30 Meier Hall 100C	The true power in blogging comes from connecting with other valuable academic resources. Learn how to create and share lists of expert blogs. We will also demonstrate the creation of class blogs that are secure from prying eyes. Marc Boots-Ebenfield	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
Calling all Potential Podcasters!	11/19/2008 3:30-4:30 Meier Hall 101B	The power in podcasting comes from the ability to do it anywhere with a variety of tools. In this session we will podcast our session- using a phone line! Have a cell phone? Try Gcast! Basics of podcasting will also be discussed. Derek Barr	✓	✓			✓

SIGN-UP for workshops ONLINE or call 6137. <http://www.salemstate.edu/cti/workshops.htm>

Center for Teaching
Innovation

Meier Hall 115
X6137

SIGN-UP for workshops ONLINE or
call 6137.

[http://tinyurl.com/
ctifa08](http://tinyurl.com/ctifa08)

"Connected Teaching: Collaborating and Sharing with Students and Each Other"

Get IT Together	12/15/2008 11:00-12:15 Harrington 110	We are inundated with information from various sources: online news sources, email, voicemail, blogs, scholarly journals, podcasts, etc. We will introduce participants to at least 2 tools, JOTT & Netvibes, that take different approaches to helping you manage information sources. Marc Boots-Ebenfield	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
Group Web Sites	1/27/2009 3:30-4:30 TBA	Google is more than e-mail and docs; you can provide an incredible collaborative web experience to your class, extracurricular group or club. Learn how to create a website using Google Sites and all the cool tools it provides. Marc Boots-Ebenfield, Perry Glasser	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
Social networks	2/4/2009 11:00-12:15 Library Instruction Classroom, 1st FL	How many friends do you have? Have you joined online social networks? We will take a look at Facebook, Shelfari, Ning and discuss how these tools can be leveraged by you for your teaching goals. Cathy Fahey	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
Second Life	2/18/2009 3:30-4:30 TBA	You have heard about Second Life, maybe even seen it demonstrated. Come get your own avatar, get started in Second Life and discuss the potential for Higher Education Marc Boots-Ebenfield		✓	✓		✓
Engage Large Classes	2/26/2009 3:30-4:30 TBA	Want to quickly know what your class is thinking or if they understand the key concepts you are presenting. Come see how easy it is to set up and use Turning Point Clickers. The software is free and the clickers can be borrowed from the CTI and set up in just a few minutes. Marc Boots-Ebenfield		✓	✓		✓
Online Video: Sources, Sharing, Editing	3/2/2009 3:00-4:00 TBA	We will share some of our favorite video sources, talk about how to find copyright free video and show you how to edit what you find. New Online video tools are more robust, have more features, are easier to use, and are FREE! Derek Barr	✓		✓	✓	✓
SoftChalk	4/7/2009 3:30-4:45	SoftChalk lets you build beautiful, interactive web pages that you can upload to Blackboard. Use it to beautify your online materials or to create learning games, self-assessments, and interactive tutorials. You can even create CDs and DVDs for distribution in class. Marc Boots-Ebenfield, Derek Barr	✓			✓	✓
Mash-ups	4/14/2009 3:30-5:00 TBA	Have you ever wanted to take information from one web site and combine it with another to create your own mix? That's a mash-up! We will discuss tools like Frapper, Yahoo Pipes, MS Popfly & Netvibes and then choose one to try out hands-on. Marc Boots-Ebenfield, Peter Oehlkers	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓

SIGN-UP for workshops ONLINE or call 6137. <http://www.salemstate.edu/cti/workshops.htm>